

Maryculter House

One of Scotland's most historic hotels

Our stunning hotel, which dates back to the 13th century, is filled with original period detail and our breath-taking location on the banks of the River Dee offers the perfect backdrop to a memorable weekend.

From the Knights Templar to the Jacobites, from the great Gordon family to survivors of the Titanic, Maryculter House has the threads of history woven through it. It is a hotel like no other.

Savour the beauty and splendour of the hotel and its grounds, and let us take care of every detail for you.
