WELCOME TO LUXURY SCOTLAND

Luxury Scotland has curated the very best of Scottish hospitality and adventure for those who desire the finest experiences in life.

Luskentyre Sands, Isle of Harris

FOREWORD

BY DOROTHY WELSH, CHIEF EXECUTIVE

A very warm welcome to our latest Luxury Scotland Brochure. Here you will find details about the finest hotels in Scotland as well as some unique experiences to enjoy. Our exclusive collection includes 26 mainly privately owned hotels, from impressive country houses to modern five-star city hotels; castles with romance and passion; an intimate cruise ship and the ultimate train journey across Scotland.

We work with a range of carefully curated partners: Little's Chauffeur Drive, Johnnie Walker & Whisky Experiences in Scotland, Crinan Fine Art, Sheila Fleet Jewellery, fashion retailer The House of Bruar, Dunnet Bay Distillers, hotel and travel marketing agency 80 DAYS, Champagne producers Taittinger as well as Highland Spring.

However, luxury isn't just about enjoying the very best that money can buy. Often, it's about having the luxury of time to spend with those you love.

Creating memories that can be recalled with laughter and longing. The smiles and cosy chatter as mother and daughter share a delectable Afternoon Tea. Lying under a canopy of twinkling stars in the inky stillness of the Scottish Highlands. The breathless excitement of a speedboat ride along Scotland's spectacular coastline. And the gentle romance of a hike past mirror-still lochs and soaring mountains. These precious moments are what sets a holiday apart. That's why we have matched our incredible hotels with some unforgettable adventures. Flick though the brochure and discover hotels and experiences that you never knew existed, until now. There really is something for everyone.

If you want to receive inspirational content about some of the finest experiences and hotels in Scotland, why not sign up to our monthly newsletter? Just visit www.luxuryscotland.co.uk and fill out our sign up form at the bottom of the page.

SCOTLAND INSPIRES

EXPLORE SCOTLAND'S WATERS

Bow Fiddle Rock, Portknockie

Surrounded on three sides by water, Scotland has over 6,000 miles of coastline and 30,000 lochs, making it a joy for any nautically-inclined visitors and landlubbers alike.

A seemingly never-ending resource, exploring this country by water is a fantastic idea. Loch Ness alone contains more water than all the lakes in England and Wales combined. White-sandy beaches, jaw-dropping sea cliffs, stunning vistas and inlets perfect for picnics await. Some of our hotels offer private sea cruises and boat charters, but here are some additional ideas that deserve a mention.

We recommend a trip to Loch Lomond, the UK's largest body of freshwater, located within Loch Lomond & The Trossachs National Park. For a Luxury Scotland-worthy experience, there are opportunities to enjoy an exclusive charter so you can sit back and admire the breathtaking views as you sail away.

Of course, no trip to Scotland is complete without visiting Loch Ness, even if you're unsuccessful at finding the famous sea monster 'Nessie' for yourself. You'll find a host of cruises to choose from as well as motorboat trips for an adrenalin-packed ride.

Other water activities include canyoning, where you're instructed to scramble up slippery rocks before plunging into water below, gorge-walking, and also coasteering, essentially wild swimming with the occasional cliff jump thrown in for good measure. You can even experience snorkelling in Scotland. For the truly adventurous there is the Scottish Snorkel Trail, covering the regions of Berwickshire, the North West Highlands and the Isle of Harris. Expect fascinating marine life and make sure to seek out the closest Luxury Scotland member hotel for dinner and accommodation to warm up afterwards.

If you are yearning to get out on the water during your stay, make sure to ask for more information from your Luxury Scotland hotel, where you will get first-class treatment and options for whatever adventure your heart desires.

SCOTLAND'S COUNTLESS CASTLES

Slains Castle, Aberdeenshire

Boasting more than its fair share of castles thanks to a turbulent past, Scotland today can offer rich historical pickings to its many visitors. Dotted around the country are formidable strongholds set atop dramatic cliffs, tower houses in varying states of ruin, ancient artillery fortifications, moated bastions, and well-preserved medieval castles. Scotland's castles were undoubtedly well worth a tussle or two in days gone by. Today, the castles in Scotland are worth a somewhat more welcomed visit.

Choose any region in Scotland and within a few miles you're certain to come across the remains of a stronghold still clinging to the cliff edge, a medieval castle ruin perched atop a hill, a tower house not quite as towering as it was in its glory days, a well-preserved fortress sitting on a lochside, or a magnificent castle fully intact and open to visitors year-round.

Explore Scotland's past with some of the most vibrant and exciting castles from our beautiful country's lengthy history.

THE HOUSE OF BRUAR

THE HOME OF COUNTRY CLOTHING
SCOTLAND'S MOST PRESTIGIOUS INDEPENDENT STORE

The House of Bruar is the UK's leading independent country clothing destination, standing at the gateway to the Highlands in beautiful rural Perthshire. Inspired by the rich tapestry of colours and textures around our Highland home, we have created our own exclusive range of contemporary country classics in highest quality materials.

Luxury natural fibres lie at the heart of our collection, with lambswool, angora, merino and of course pure cashmere all represented in a rich spectrum of colours from lush greens and russet reds to earthy browns and airy sky blues. All the colours of Scotland's unique landscape are conjured in our Knitwear Hall - the largest in Great Britain - with a range of designs to suit all tastes.

Our knitwear collection is complemented by an impressive selection of pure new wool British tweeds and plaids which mix authentic traditional designs with new and original offerings that bring fresh and vibrant possibilities to the world of country clothing, providing everything needed for the complete country wardrobe. Alongside our own original creations you'll find specially selected items from the world's finest clothing brands, including Adini, Gardeur, Masai, Schoffel, Levi's and Brax, not to mention the largest selection of Barbour goods to be found anywhere in the UK.

Country sports are another area in which we excel, with our range featuring everything from traditional sporting tweeds to cutting-edge technical garments from the likes of Aigle, The North Face, Harkila, Patagonia and Musto. Anglers have their own dedicated department in the Fishing Shop, where our expert staff can help with all the advice and equipment you need - you can even test potential purchases on the nearby River Garry to get a feel for how they work in practice.

Move through into our contemporary rural art Gallery, which is home to stunning paintings and wonderfully evocative sculptures from both established and up-and-coming artists with a strong Scottish connection. Whether you're looking to buy or browse, we're sure you'll be impressed by the cascade of forms and images that capture the many faces of wild Scotland.

The rural lifestyle is again celebrated in our Country Living Department, with a host of exciting and beguiling ideas for home and garden. From cashmere throws to pet accessories, luxury tableware to traditional children's toys, we have everything the well-appointed country home could possibly require.

Gifts galore reside in our Present Shop, where a spectacular selection of handmade and hand-finished goods can help bring joy to any special event or occasion. We can even help you produce a bespoke wedding list to ensure everything runs smoothly for your big day. The highlights of our collection can be found in our yearly Handmade Gift Catalogue, which, alongside the Autumn/Winter catalogue, brings the best of our exclusive brand of contemporary country style direct to your door. New to the store this year is The Jewel in the Crown, our dazzling jewellery shop filled with a resplendent selection of artful creations in gold, silver and a host of other materials.

The best of Scotland's natural larder is always on the menu in our Food Hall, Delicatessen and Restaurant, with a mouth-watering selection of delicacies from local providers as well as further afield, while our award-winning Butchery serves handmade pies, burgers and sausages alongside prime cuts of quality meats sourced from estates close to our Highland home. Mackie's Scottish ice cream and freshly made sugar ring doughnuts are just two of the treats that await you in our new Bakery, as well as a range of artisan breads and pastries that will definitely keep you coming back for more.

If you're looking for the ultimate luxury comfort food, our unique Fish and Chip Shop fits the bill perfectly, with lobster and chips and now even squid and chips available even when the main store is closed. Seafood is delivered seven days a week from St Andrews to ensure freshness and quality for a meal you'll never forget. Nowhere else in Britain will you find the same quality, diversity and service that we provide to our customers. A truly unique shopping destination with something to offer every visitor, The House of Bruar always promises the warmest of welcome.

This collection of images is just a taster of our Autumn/Winter catalogue. Please visit our website or call us to request your very own copy of our latest catalogue.

KINLOCH LODGE

Kinloch Lodge provides an exceptional guest experience amidst the Isle of Skye's outstanding natural landscape.

5 reasons to stay

1 2022 marks Kinloch Lodge's 50th anniversary, with events planned throughout the year and the publication of a new cookbook in the autum.

2 Centuries of Clan Donald history and memorabilia to marvel at.

3 The finest whisky bar on the island.

4 The chance to spot golden eagles from the hotel's front door.

5 A quieter region of Skye, off the busier tourist trail.

Nestled against the shores of Loch na Dal with the jagged skyline of the Cuillin Mountains in the distance, Skye's Kinloch Lodge sits among some of the most ruggedly beautiful landscapes in Europe. While the scenery outside might be wild, once guests step through the door they are welcomed into a luxury hotel with all the touches of a family home.

Kinloch Lodge was the childhood home of owner Isabella Macdonald. Today, with its sumptuous rooms and suites that look over the loch, to the cosy sitting rooms with crackling log fires, guests are invited to relax and make themselves part of the Kinloch family.

Kinloch's head chef, Jordan Webb, reinforces this ethos with a daily changing dinner menu that showcases the seasons and the very best of Skye's local larder. Guests can join Jordan or the hotel's ghillie for activities including foraging, bushcraft, stalking and wildlife watching, while those wishing to take things a little easier can relax with a massage session or perhaps a cocktail from the hotel bar.

UPGRADE YOUR RIDE

DRIVING THROUGH SCOTLAND

Dramatic scenery. Majestic viewpoints. Mediterranean-style beaches and the occasional archaeological phenomenon. Scotland provides road trips to rival the best in the world.

There is no better way to experience the thrill of a breathtaking drive than in an entirely luxurious sports car or perhaps in a classic version of your childhood dream car. Consider the thrill of putting your very own Lamborghini Aventador S Roadster in gear and racing off along the coast.

A number of companies across Scotland provide an impressive selection of sports cars to hire, including 1970's MG's, to give you the chance to enjoy the road in an elegant machine.

Prefer electric? You'll find charging points at the majority of our hotels, and visit our website to discover fantastic electric car touring itineraries.

If you're travelling light, consider hiring a motorbike for a two-wheeled scenic excursion to remember. Then again, peddle power is an altogether more leisurely way to explore Scotland's quieter roads. It just requires a bit more effort!

For those who prefer the luxury of putting their feet up and simply watching the stunning Scottish scenery unfold, why not hire a chauffeur and get driven in style. We'd recommend our business partner, Scottish based Little's Chauffeur Service, who have a fleet of top range cars and highly professional drivers, ready to go. For more information about the services they offer, have a look at their advert on page 28.

Once you have the vehicle taken care of, here are our top 12 awe-inspiring tour routes for you to take:

FRANCES MACDONALD
A HEBRIDEAN PAINTER

...who lives and works at Crinan

Frances owns the Crinan Hotel which is a magnet for artists, seafood lovers and those who enjoy the unspoiled beauty of the West Coast of Scotland.

Frances exhibits annually either at the Scottish Gallery, Edinburgh or The Portland Gallery, London and has works on show at the Hotel of Iona, the Mull of Kintyre and many lovely beaches.

Her paintings are in collections world wide. Ross Ryan, her son, also a professional artist does boat trips and painting trips on the MV Scarbh from Crinan to the island of Jura and beyond.

Quote from Guy Peploe, Director, The Scottish Gallery:

"As an artist she has quietly emerged as one of the most eloquent observers of the West Coast and islands. Her oil paintings, invariably made with palette knife, are always true to the time and place and are hard-won: she needs to be there, prey to the vicissitudes of weather (and human failure) to get the kit to the right place and the right time, to let the magic happen."
